To W. L. Garrison.

East-Boston, Jan'y 21/53

53?

My dear Sir,

I doubt if you quite do me Wallace justice in his notice of his Election Sermon. I did not hear it, tho' it is alleged to have been preached before his Ex. his Honor & the Hon. Council, but I don't want to believe that a man like me Wallace who, if there is any good in that Parasite of Bostonocracy, represents it, endorses the "American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions." I think he must have referred "in laudibus" to the "American Missionary Association" an Association, as you are probably aware. Retained by those who have left the "A. B. C. F. M." on account of its pro-slavery character & which tries to spread an anti-slavery gospel.

By the way, if you have not seen it, let me advise you to look at the number for January of their periodical - the "American Missionary" It contains a very good drawing up of the pro-slavery character of the "American Board" - very familiar unvarnished, to old stagers like you, but all news to many orthodox people & teaching two where the Liberator cannot go.

Allow me to say, that I do not believe that Mrs Walcott "represents the" Home Missionary Society as the representation of the cause" of "Home Rulers." Unless he add to the inference is a non-sequitur.

Don't understand me as defending Mr Balfour. I don't know & I hardly care what he did say or mean; & it hardly becomes me, who am regarded as little better than one of the heathen, to take up the cudgels in behalf of an orthodox minister. But give the devil his due. There is encouragement when such men as Mr W. Fish even ones so far out of the ranks, for if not so far as some would like, it is the first step that costs; & they must go back or go further.

Yours very truly F. W. Newman
